

The North American Alpaca Show

2005

Bottom Line...

Eliza Belle amidst tons of applause and amazed laughter from the two pretty judges (who had picked their runner up from the front line before Eliza sauntered confidently forward allowing the judges to check her out)...she won the Reserve Grand Champion. She won "Bred and Owned Yearling Female" too.

Kalinka: 1st also in her White Juvenile Huacaya females' class. A little doll all the way. Square and stocky...just like they like it.

Huckleberry Rose won the red (2nd) in the Yearling Fawn Female Huacaya Halter class. She's a pain to show. A regular snake on a leash. Not mean, no, just double jointed...the whole neck wiggles when I want her to stand still. Ugh!

Marushka simply walked in beautifully and each and every time the judges walked over to her she thru her lovely body in the dirt and rolled. Needless to say all she got was dirty.

Altai placed 3rd in the Juvenile White Male Huacaya halter class and he was very proud of himself indeed. He looks like the toughest rabbit you've ever seen.

Breeder's Best Three, judged by Mike Safely, Jude Anderson and Amanda VandenBosch was a huge class of gorgeous alpacas of all sizes and colors...but my trio "glowed". Eliza, Kalinka and Altai won this coveted award for us. Three different sires from three different dams...all winners.

These classes were divided and subdivided. The competition tough but the alpaca breeders friendly. How can you beat this for a business.
